Charles Bultman architect (CBa) is a full service architecture firm committed to design excellence, with a specialized interest in the preservation and rehabilitation of historic barns. Since 1997, CBa has provided services for a range of successful barn projects from the Rocky Mountains to New England. Using modern construction techniques combined with a unique sensitivity to the historic aspects of barns, we provide our clients with custom designs that preserve and integrate the joy of barn spaces with the functionality of the project's program. Whether restoring a barn in place, or adapting one to a new site, we know the challenges of working with timber frames, and we savor the warmth and charm they bring to any project ~ residential or commercial. Our services include site and structural evaluation, field measurements, computerized design and construction documents, construction contract administration, and specifications for green building products and reclaimed materials. CBa is dedicated to meeting the needs and desires of each client; we take pride in the success of our work and in the happiness of the clients we serve.

Sue We are two sisters who have enjoyed 3701 quilting for years. We recently packed Zeeland, Mi away our sewing machines and picked up our paint brushes. We are now painting quilt patterns on special signage plywood which you can display on your barns, sheds, garages, cottages, business fronts, the possibilities are endless! We see barn quilts as a way to combine our love of quilting with our love of barns and country life into a beautiful art form.
